

South Moravian Innovation Centre is the most successful company to support innovation business in Czech Republic. Portal Gate2Biotech www.gate2biotech.cz puts together biotech community in central Europe. The website's visitors will find a complete database of Czech biotechnology companies, innovations on the field, demand and offer of cooperation or employment positions in the sector, an overview of projects currently under way or the connected international conferences, exhibitions and other significant happenings concerning the field. Foreign companies doing business in this area may also easily find for example research facilities or other partners to help them solve technological problems that they are tackling. There is also a section dedicated to human resources, their development, offer and demand.
