Celebrate and say goodbye to the old year in the Czech Republic!

The Czech Republic fully enjoys the last day of the year. Parties in towns and mountain huts cannot do without sandwiches and champagne. New Year's Eve celebration is an opportunity how to spend special moments with family and friends. If you do so in the Czech Republic you will get a recipe for an unforgettable New Year break.

New Year's Eve in Prague: from exuberant enjoyment to New Year's fireworks

If you plan to say goodbye to the old year in the maelstrom of the city, head to the Czech capital. Prague is a popular destination during the Christmas holidays, and the same goes for New Year's Eve. The celebrations are enjoyed by all, including the young and old, the quiet and romantic couples, individuals and groups. There are entertainment options to suit all tastes, from classical music concerts, boat cruises on the River Vltava to dance clubs and special programmes at bars and restaurants.

The Municipal House has prepared a special New Year's Eve concert and the State opera offers a gala. We recommend visiting Letná Park at midnight, there is a unique view of the city which will shine with fireworks from various districts. You can see the illuminated metropolis from the height of the Žižkov tower or you can sail on the Vltava River.

New Year's fireworks will be shot off from Letná Park on January 1 at 6 p.m. You should find your place on the bridges or waterfront sooner, and do not leave your metro ride for the last moment because you could miss the beauty of the sky. Restaurants mainly offer you legumes on New Year's Day, so that everything will be plentiful in the coming months or piglet for good luck. On the contrary you won't find rabbit, poultry or fish on the menu because the luck could run, fly or swim away in the new year.

Fall for celebration in beautiful Czech mountains

The city of Prague is not the only place to spent unforgettable New Year´s Eve night. Romantic atmosphere of mountain cottage with the view of snow-covered peaks of mountains can also be perfect place for celebration.

Here you can spend last minutes of the old year in the other way by skiing, cross-country skiing or just enjoying frozen nature all around you. No worries, if you are not from those who enjoy winter sports that much there is still waiting great fun such as building a snowman or snow fight. This special New Year break will suit everyone who is looking to celebrate the end of the year somewhere unique.
