

CZECH DIPLOMACY

2022

Opening Message

Dear Readers,

I am pleased to present to you Czech Diplomacy 2022, an overview of important issues addressed and tasks completed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs last year, and of the steps and initiatives that made Czechia a voice to be heard in international decision-making processes and bolstered its position and reputation worldwide.

Our foreign policy stems from a tradition of active, responsible and humanistic politics. This is what we can offer the world and what makes Czechia respected abroad.

The war on our continent, started by Russia in February 2022, has reminded us all that security, freedom, and peace are not to be taken for granted. On the contrary, they require us to make sacrifices, often tragic, and to constantly care for democracy: in our communities, in our country and, together with like-minded countries, also in the European Union and the North Atlantic Alliance.

Czechia is a country whose stability and prosperity, standard of living, arts, natural and historic environment, together with respect for freedom and human rights, make it one of the world's exceptional places to live and work. So far, our history has had very few chapters that would make anyone resent us or feel unable to forgive us; there are much more positive reminiscences going back as far as the times of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, pre-war Czechoslovakia, or the Battle of Britain.

Conscious of its position and its strengths, Czechia becomes increasingly active in international affairs – no matter whether the situation on hand is pleasant or whether it involves taking tough decisions. Last year, we set an example with the speed and range of our military supplies to Ukraine, our support for independent journalists and human rights defenders, our professionalism and personal dedication during the Czech EU Presidency, and the way we built coalitions across the United Nations to stand up against authoritarian regimes and propaganda. This is how we take our share of responsibility for today's world.

Thanks to all of you who helped us along the way.

Jan Lipavský

Direction of Czech Diplomacy

2022 was dominated by the tough challenge of Russia's invasion of Ukraine, and by our responsibilities as Presidency of the Council of the European Union. On 24 February, Russia attacked its neighbour in a bid to seize its territory and overthrow its democratically elected government. This set off a huge wave of solidarity with Ukraine across the Western world. The EU and its Member States stood united in their opposition to Russia. They sent clear signals, to their own people and to the world at large, that Ukraine was to be supported; and indeed, they did support Ukraine in all respects, providing humanitarian, in-kind, financial, and military assistance, helping Ukraine along its path to the EU, and imposing sanctions on Russia. Our diplomacy came to play an important role in this process as the Czech Republic assumed the Presidency of the Council of the EU.

NATO responded to Russia's aggression in a way that left no doubt about the Alliance being ready and willing to ensure the collective defence of its members. This was significant, especially as the commitment of Europeans to investing into their own security used to be described as no more than half-hearted. Russia's aggression made the Alliance stronger morally, and also physically, thanks to the historic decision of Sweden and Finland to abandon their long-held neutrality and join NATO.

Minister Lipavský met with his NATO counterparts to discuss support for Ukraine © NATO

A great part of our work was to coordinate the efforts of democratic countries towards international containment and isolation of Russia's regime, and towards curbing the influence of its current as well as potential allies. We sought to strengthen the EU's raw material as well as economic self-sufficiency and resilience. We used common European solutions to find and embark on the path towards ending our dependence on Russian energy. Together with our allies and partners we adopted and began to implement the EU Strategic Compass and NATO Strategic Concept – the basis for our common foreign, security and defence policies, both at home and in relation to other partners and countries, including the hostile ones. These key documents are a source of inspiration and a frame of reference for the national policy concepts and strategies of the EU Member States, including Czechia's security strategy and foreign policy concepts and related sectoral strategies for areas such as development cooperation and human rights, as well as for a review of relations with Russia and China.

Minister Lipavský presents to the press the priorities of Czechia's Presidency of the Council of the EU

Despite the security situation, we continued to build a stable and prosperous Europe benefiting from its enlargement policy and partnership with NATO as well as from new initiatives such as the European Political Community established in Prague in October. The Community's inaugural summit was another of the events that have made Prague a significant name in the history of international politics.

The war in Ukraine has reinforced the transatlantic link and relations between democratic states. In addition to human rights, our priorities included Africa and the Indo-Pacific where we forge new partnerships and review the existing ones.

Czechia in the Lead of the European Union

Czechia held the Presidency of the Council of the European Union (CZ PRES) from 1 July to 31 December. CZ PRES worked closely with the other Member States as well as with the European Commission, High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy, and the European External Action Service. In the EU's external relations, the main objective was to stay united vis-à-vis Russia and to support Ukraine. Other issues on the agenda were to build the Union's relations with non-European partners, especially the like-minded ones; to search for a pathway out of the energy crisis, and to address enlargement process that should bring the Western Balkan countries, Ukraine, Moldova and Georgia into the EU.

Czechia's Presidency of the Council of the EU addressed issues such as the energy crisis and the continuing enlargement of the Union

CFSP

In the area of the EU Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP), we took part in the negotiating processes through which the Union shapes its foreign policy positions and activities, including its common statements in multilateral fora. We promoted the efforts to link the CFSP with other EU policies and instruments in order to maintain unity vis-à-vis third countries, in particular Russia. In 2022, the EU adopted nine restrictive measures against Russia and Belarus, including sanctions targeting President Putin and Foreign Minister Lavrov as well as a number of sectoral sanctions (finance, energy, transport, export controls). The main purpose was to inflict damage on Russia's military-industrial complex and to bar its access to key technologies. During CZ PRES, the EU set a USD 60 per barrel price cap on seaborne Russian crude oil. Another question of importance to CZ PRES was how to communicate with the Russian public, and how to counteract disinformation, including Russian propaganda in third countries. The Union responded to Russian disinformation campaigns by suspending the EU broadcasting licences of some media outlets such as the Sputnik news agency, Russia Today, NTV/NTV Mir, Rossiya 1, REN TV and Pervyi kanal. Other measures included full suspension of the EU-Russia visa facilitation agreement.

The EU decided to provide EUR 67 billion in aid to Ukraine through the European Peace Facility. It made preparations for the country's post-war reconstruction and opened its market to Ukraine's agricultural products. The Member States acted flexibly to take in Ukrainian war refugees; the Union promptly activated its temporary protection mechanism and coordinated the integration of refugees in all aspects of daily life such as employment, health services or assistance in schools. Important topics included food security and Solidarity Lanes for Ukraine's grain and agricultural export, but also Europe's energy crisis, especially the need to diversify sources and mitigate the socio-economic impact of high energy prices.

Minister Lipavský speaks with the press following a Foreign Ministers meeting in Brussels

Enlargement policy

In the area of the EU enlargement policy, we supported the membership prospects of Ukraine, Moldova and Georgia (all three countries applied in spring) as well as the candidate status granted by the European Council to Ukraine and Moldova in June. In July, Minister Lipavský chaired the intergovernmental conferences that opened the accession negotiations with Albania and North Macedonia. In December, the European Council decided to grant the candidate status to Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Kosovo applied for a membership. The decision on visa liberalisation for Kosovar nationals was another success in this area.

Czechia continued its support of the Western Balkan countries; however, Russia's aggressive policy made us turn our attention more to our Eastern partners, especially to their resilience and their economic cooperation with the EU. A debate on the future of the Eastern Partnership got under way, including the question of removal of telecommunication barriers between the EU and Eastern partners. In Belarus, we concentrated on supporting civil society.

Cooperation with the USA and NATO

Czechia made it clear that a strong transatlantic link and close cooperation with the United States must remain at the heart of European policies across all policy fields. CZ PRES invited Americans to conferences and meetings, especially those relevant to EU-NATO cooperation, the EU-US Trade and Technology Council, and coordination on foreign policy issues, including energy security, counter-terrorism and international organisations. CZ PRES took part in the work on the EU-NATO Joint Declaration. In the EU-US Trade and Technology Council, CZ PRES focused on Russia's and China's non-market practices and on the deepening of mutual trade and regulatory cooperation.

Cooperation with the Indo-Pacific was another priority. We engaged in the implementation of the EU strategy: Prague hosted a high-level dialogue, and many meetings and conferences on cyber security, environment, space cooperation and maritime law took place in Czechia and across the Indo-Pacific region. Prime Minister Fiala signed the EU-Thailand and EU-Malaysia Partnership and Cooperation Agreements on behalf of the Union.

Minister Lipavský participated in the High-Level Dialogue on the Indo-Pacific in Prague (CZ PRES event)

Africa

In relation to Africa, CZ PRES paid special attention to the implementation of conclusions from the EU-African Union Summit held in February 2022, and to stabilisation in the Sahel. One of the key questions was what course the Common Security and Defence Policy should take vis-à-vis Russia's influence in the Sahel. In September, Czechia co-organised (with the Swiss Fondation Hironnelle) an informal meeting of the Political and Security Committee of the Council of the EU to discuss the problem of disinformation in the Sahel. In November, Special Envoys for the Sahel held their meeting; Minister Lipavský met with ambassadors of African countries, and Czechia chaired the 45th African, Caribbean and Pacific (ACP)-EU Council of Ministers – the biggest CZ PRES event with almost eighty participating countries.

LAC

CZ PRES helped revive the EU's relations with Latin America and the Caribbean (LAC). The EU and Chile finalised their agreement, and the Foreign Ministers of the EU and the Community of Latin American and Caribbean States (CELAC) held a formal meeting after a lapse of more than four years. Important topics included post-pandemic recovery, climate change, innovation, digital transition and cyber security, multilateralism, and the promotion of human rights. The EU and LAC Youth Days took place in Prague in November.

We continued to fight terrorism and engage in international operations and missions, including the Global Coalition against Daesh. The outcomes of the Conference on the Future of Europe were an important topic. Czechia advocated unanimous decision-making in the Council of the EU, and called for equitable representation of the Member States in the Union's diplomatic service. The Member States continued to implement the Recovery and Resilience Facility so as to use up the funds allocated to support post-pandemic economic recovery, encourage green transition, and speed up digital transition. Negotiations on the Fit for 55 package made progress. The EU looked for ways to strengthen resilience and self-sufficiency, reduce raw material dependency, deepen the internal market, and increase competitiveness.

Cooperation with all of our close partners was increasingly important: for example, the European Economic Area Council met in November. Implementation of the strategy to boost investment in sustainable connectivity in the digital, energy and transport sectors (Global Gateway) moved ahead. Discussions on the need to improve security at the EU's external border and on the various proposals for the Pact on Asylum and Migration continued as well. In the external dimension of migration, the emphasis was on better cooperation with countries of origin and transit. The accession of Croatia to the Schengen area was a success; however, regrettably, agreement on the accession of Bulgaria and Romania remained to be reached.

Security

NATO

Russia's invasion of Ukraine was at the top of the North Atlantic Alliance's agenda. The Allies held a record number of meetings; they activated their defence plans and adopted measures to deter the adversary and defend the Alliance's territory. NATO member countries took additional steps in their individual capacity to assist Ukraine's legitimate self-defence. NATO agreed not only on the need to support Ukraine, but also on the need to bolster the defence capabilities of other vulnerable partner countries. At the same time, the Alliance continued to implement the policies initiated in the previous years. The Madrid Summit approved a new Strategic Concept which defines the main threats (Russia and terrorism) and the Alliance's vision for its further development, including adaptation to China's global footprint, to emerging technologies, and to climate change. The Madrid Summit decided to enhance the NATO force posture on the Eastern Flank, and to step up cooperation with the EU and four Asia-Pacific partners.

CSDP

Participation in missions and operations

NATO-EU cooperation was one of our priorities. In NATO, we made every effort to foster a transparent dialogue with non-EU allies. In the EU, we worked consistently for an effective Common Security and Defence Policy (CSDP). We took part in finalising and implementing the EU Strategic Compass, which involved about fifty different measures and initiatives. We participated in the development and implementation of the European Peace Facility (EPF), an instrument that supports actions to strengthen the defence capacities of partner countries and, as a matter of priority, enables the financing of military assistance measures for Ukraine; in this process, we sought to ensure that the needs of the partner countries would be taken into account. We played a major role in the decision of the Council of the EU to significantly increase the EPF's financial ceiling. We consistently promoted the implementation of EU defence initiatives – the Permanent Structured Cooperation (PESCO), the Coordinated Annual Review on Defence (CARD), and the European Defence Fund (EDF). We supported the preparation of measures to boost EU defence industry capabilities. The European Centre of Excellence for Civilian Crisis Management continued its work, and Czechia contributed to the success of the fourth Annual Review Conference of the Civilian CSDP Compact and to the preparation of a new Compact. Czechia sought to fulfil our National Implementation Plan for the Civilian CSDP, and to achieve greater efficiency in sending Czech experts to civilian missions.

As regards participation in international missions and operations Czechia continued its deployment on UN MINUSMA stabilisation mission in Mali and the EUCAP Sahel Mali civilian mission. It took command of the EUTM training mission in Mali for the second time. Czechia was represented in the command structures of UNDOF disengagement observer force in the Golan Heights, on the MFO (Multinational Force & Observers) in Sinai, and the EUBAM border assistance mission for the Rafah crossing point. Czech military observers were deployed on the UN MONUSCO and MINUSCA stabilisation missions in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Central African Republic. Czech police officers served with the UNMISS mission in South Sudan and the UNFICYP peacekeeping force in Cyprus. We continued our deployment on the UNMIK mission and the EU and OSCE civilian missions in Kosovo, and on the ALTHEA military operation and the OSCE mission in Bosnia and Herzegovina. We took part in two new projects – the EU Military Assistance Mission in support of Ukraine (EUMAM Ukraine) to provide training for up to 4,000 members of Ukrainian armed forces personnel, and the EUMCAP monitoring capacity in Armenia. We participated in EU civilian missions in Georgia, Iraq, and Somalia, and in the EU naval operation IRINI.

In late 2022, the Czech Army ended its deployment on the EUTM in Mali after almost ten years of presence in the country © EUTM Mali

OSCE

Western members of the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe kept the debate focused on Russia's aggression. The OSCE Special Monitoring Mission to Ukraine and the OSCE Project Co-ordinator in Ukraine discontinued their operations as the extension of their mandates had been blocked by Russia's veto.

Minister Lipavský discussed the future of Europe's security architecture with the OSCE Secretary General, Helga Schmid

Hybrid threats

Despite that, the OSCE maintained its presence on the ground thanks to its Extra-budgetary Support Programme for Ukraine, aided by Czechia financially as well as politically. The differences between the majority of the participating States on the one part and Russia on the other affect not only the politico-military dimension including arms control, but also the human rights dimension and the economic and environmental dimension. The activity of the Joint Consultative Group, the Open Skies Consultative Commission and the Security Committee decreased considerably. The OSCE budgets for 2022 and 2023 were not adopted.

Czechia chaired the EU's Horizontal Working Party on Enhancing Resilience and Countering Hybrid Threats. In this capacity, it finalised the EU Hybrid Toolbox and made progress in preparing a set of measures against foreign information manipulation and interference. Czech experts contributed to the work of the European Centre of Excellence for Countering Hybrid Threats in Helsinki and the East Strategic Communication (StratCom) team of the European External Action Service. Czechia nominated twenty national experts to NATO's counter-hybrid support teams, and co-financed the NATO-Ukraine Platform on Countering Hybrid Warfare.

MFA hosted the First Global Forum on the Ethics of AI

Cyber attacks became part of geopolitical competition. The year-on-year increase in state-initiated attacks is estimated at 95 per cent. Instead of simply stealing data, the attackers mostly pursued a broader strategy to shatter social confidence and undermine the foundations of democracy and economy. Czech diplomacy focused especially on the efforts of authoritarian regimes harnessing new technologies to increase their global stature, and on the impacts of new technologies on human rights and fundamental freedoms. In the EU and UN, Czechia promoted the principles and standards of responsible behaviour in the cyberspace with special emphasis on health care. It organised a cyber capacity building seminar for partners, and missions to Ghana, Senegal, Indonesia, and Bosnia and Herzegovina. In the International Telecommunication Union, Czechia presented, on behalf of the EU, a joint policy statement on human-centric approach; the statement gained the support of 56 countries. We remained active in the Global Partnership for Artificial Intelligence and in the Freedom Online Coalition (FOC); we hosted a UNESCO conference on the ethics of AI, and we promoted the sharing of cyber security and human rights expertise.

Arms control policies

Arms control, disarmament and non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction was another area where Czechia responded to activities aiding and supporting Russia's invasion of Ukraine: nuclear rhetoric, disinformation campaigns and cyber hybrid warfare. Czechia was a resolute voice in the UN, in treaty-based arrangements and export control regimes, striving to keep them functional, to counter disinformation, and to build coalitions in the interests of security and international commitments. Czech diplomacy continued to review trade in military material and dual-use goods, and contributed to the development of a fast-track system for dealing with export licence applications for goods intended directly for Ukraine's defence. Czechia was among the biggest and most prompt suppliers of military material and technologies, and its timely response benefited the overall atmosphere and decision-making of other countries. Czechia's approach to Russia and Belarus was strict, stricter even than the EU regulations. For example, Czechia halted its exports of all dual-use goods except for medical supplies and material necessary for the maintenance and safe operation of civil nuclear facilities.

Energy security

Prime Minister Fiala attended the European Council to discuss energy price reduction measures ©EU

Russia's aggression transformed the energy security landscape. In 2021, 45 per cent of the EU's natural gas imports, 25 per cent of oil imports, 45 per cent of coal imports and 43 per cent of nuclear fuel imports came from Russia. In Czechia alone, imports from Russia covered

Human Rights and Dignity

97 per cent of natural gas consumption, 50 per cent of oil consumption, 7 per cent of coal consumption, and 99 per cent of nuclear fuel consumption. The EU agreed to cut down its gas consumption by 20 per cent, to purchase up to 15 per cent of gas jointly, and to introduce a gas market correction mechanism designed to limit episodes of extraordinarily high gas prices. The EU and the G7 capped the prices of Russian oil. This enabled the EU to halve its imports of Russian natural gas. Seaborne imports of Russian coal and oil were banned. Czechia was able to end its total dependence on gas from Russia, and to replace it with liquefied natural gas (LNG) from Norway and the United States. It secured a sufficient gas supply capacity at the Eemshaven terminal in the Netherlands, and more options are still under discussion. Czech diplomacy negotiated an increase in the capacity of the TAL pipeline (TAL+), which will enable us to reach zero imports of Russian oil by 2025.

A big task still ahead is to find an alternative source of nuclear fuel for our six reactors at the Temelín and Dukovany nuclear power plants. Overall, the EU needs to reduce its imports of Russian LNG which rose over the past year when the gas storage facilities had to be refilled. A number of Member States, including us, are looking for alternative suppliers of enriched uranium.

We had two great successes in the UN Human Rights Council: in May, Czechia was elected to the seat vacated by Russia; in December, Ambassador Václav Bálek, Permanent Representative of the Czech Republic to the UN in Geneva, was elected President of the Council for 2023, becoming the first ever Czech representative at the head of this important body. During 2022, the Council held three regular sessions and two special sessions: on the human rights situation in Ukraine stemming from the Russian aggression, and on the situation of human rights in Iran, especially with respect to women and children. In July, the Czech Republic, together with Indonesia, Lithuania, Maldives, Mexico and the United States, sponsored a resolution on the rights to freedom of peaceful assembly and of association. The resolution was adopted by consensus.

Czechia was equally active in the Council of Europe: in March, Czechia supported the exclusion of Russia, and in May, Minister Lipavský attended the 132nd session of the Committee of Ministers. The Václav Havel Human Rights Prize went to Vladimir Kara-Murza, Russian activist and opposition politician. Czechia participated in two meetings of the Committee on Artificial Intelligence, a body mandated to draw up a Convention on Artificial Intelligence, Human Rights, Democracy and the Rule of Law.

In the OSCE Human Dimension, Czechia supported the launch of the Moscow Mechanism to document the human rights violations committed by Russia in the territory of Ukraine and the gross human rights violations taking place in Russia. Czechia drew attention to the deteriorating human rights situation in Belarus. It supported the Polish Presidency's human rights conference, an event that replaced the annual Human Dimension Implementation Meeting blocked by Russia.

Already in February, Czechia, along with forty other countries, submitted to the International Criminal Court a referral concerning the crimes committed by Russia in Ukraine. The Court opened an investigation into the situation in early March. We provided to the International Criminal Court financial support as well as human resources, namely the Czech prosecutor Anna Richterová and forensic experts. Czechia and other EU Member States (with the exception of Hungary) intervened at the International Court of Justice to support Ukraine's defence against the accusations made by Russia concerning genocide in the Luhansk and Donetsk regions. As one of the seventeen members of the Core Group, we work for the creation of a Special Tribunal for the crime of aggression committed by Russia's leaders against Ukraine. The EU made considerable progress in the process of accession to the European Convention on Human Rights, with agreement on most of the remaining issues reached during the French and Czech Presidencies.

In addition to the mandatory membership contributions to international organisations, the MFA earmarked almost CZK 33.3 million for voluntary monetary donations in support of security, human rights and economic development. Compared to previous years, Czechia increased its financial support to organisations and processes responding to Russia's aggression against Ukraine, especially investigation into war crimes and crimes against humanity (contributions to the NATO Trust Funds, support to the Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, the International Criminal Court, etc.).

In 2022, the Transition Cooperation Programme spent more than CZK 63 million on NGO projects implemented in priority countries. We paid special attention to Ukraine, its civil society and its independent media: our support went to the local organisations, either directly or through Czech entities. We responded to the plight of persecuted human rights defenders and independent journalists in Russia and Belarus: our Civil Society Programme facilitated their access to visas and residence permits. We continued with our support of democracy and human rights defenders in Burma. Promotion of independent media and the freedom of expression remained one of the pillars of our human rights and transition promotion policy.

Implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development is one of the core tasks of the UN Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). Czechia is a member of the ECOSOC for 2022-2024, and it regularly participates in the main platform for Agenda 2030 – the High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development.

We are one of the countries that consistently lead the way in addressing the Sustainable Development Goals (13th out of the 163 countries reviewed in 2022). The issue of Agenda 2030 is now on the table in many organisations, including the EU. The foreign policy dimension of Agenda 2030 informs our development cooperation, human rights promotion, economic diplomacy and the projects of our embassies (in 2022 we had nine embassy projects). As in the past years, the MFA organised the OSCE Economic and Environmental Forum. The 30th landmark anniversary forum focused on promoting security and stability through sustainable economic recovery from the Covid-19 pandemic.

As in the past years, the MFA hosted the OSCE Economic and Environmental Forum

The UN Climate Change Conference COP 27, held in Egypt in November, closed with an agreement to establish a fund that would compensate particularly vulnerable countries of the developing world (especially the least developed countries and small island states) for the damage caused by climate change. In December, Czechia participated in the United Nations Biodiversity Conference (COP15) hosted by Canada, resulting in a historic commitment to ensure the restoration and protection of at least 30 per cent of the world's land and sea area by 2030.

We continued with the implementation of the Development Cooperation Strategy of the Czech Republic for the period 2018 – 2030, process in which the climate resilience of partner countries is becoming an increasingly important concern. We began to evaluate the development cooperation programmes agreed for 2018-2023 with Bosnia and Herzegovina, Cambodia, Ethiopia, Georgia, Moldova and Zambia. Humanitarian and stabilisation assistance to Ukraine and Ukrainian refugees in Moldova remained our priority throughout the year; we spent a total of CZK 193 million for this purpose. Czech ministries began to coordinate their activities concerning renewal of Ukraine's energy infrastructure and economic recovery in selected

Development cooperation

Economic diplomacy

Ukrainian regions. We paid special attention to the global impacts of the war in Ukraine, particularly to food security in Africa.

In 2022, the Czech Development Agency spent on foreign development cooperation projects a total of CZK 337 million from Czechia's national budget and CZK 17.7 million from EU funds (five delegated cooperation projects). The MFA implemented development cooperation and humanitarian aid projects, bilateral as well as multilateral projects, worth CZK 284 million.

Economic diplomacy supported Czech companies of every size and industry, and helped them find business opportunities especially in more distant markets. There were presentations and projects organised by Czech embassies abroad, as well as export promotion events and projects taking place at home. The MFA used its special channels to provide information on economic developments and business opportunities abroad: the MFA and export.cz websites, social networks, and the magazine Modern Economic Diplomacy \(MED\). Economic diplomacy projects \(PROPEDs\) remain one of the most efficient tools for promoting the interests of Czech companies abroad; in 2022 there were two hundred of them implemented around the world, which is much more than in the Covid-19 years 2021 and 2022. PROPEDs complemented the standard range of services provided by our network of embassies and CzechTrade offices in more than 90 countries of the world.

Czechia builds modular accommodation units in western Ukraine © Consulate General in Lviv

Other economic diplomacy tools included projects promoting economic activities abroad \(PROPEAs\), implemented in 15 countries in 2022. PROPEAs help Czech businesses gain a firmer as well as larger foothold in foreign markets. They provide quality services using local expertise to minimize the risks involved in entering a foreign market.

The MFA updated its Global Industry Opportunities Map, a publication that charts the opportunities for Czech business worldwide. This was the first digital only edition (searchable by continent and sector). The MFA and embassies together with the Czech Chamber of Commerce, Confederation of Industry of the Czech Republic and other partners organised a number of online and face-to-face events and conferences for Czech companies. In May and June, Czernin Palace hosted two major economic conferences: the Health Forum Czech Republic-Africa, attended by health ministers from African partner countries, and the Czech Republic-Gulf Cooperation Council Investment Forum with leading sovereign funds from the Gulf countries.

MFA organised the Health Forum Czech Republic-Africa to open a new chapter in Czech medical technology exports

Our attention increasingly turns to research, development and innovation. This area is of crucial importance to our economy, both as a component contributing to the added value of Czech production and exports, and as an important tool we can use to promote our external economic relations and our security and development cooperation.

Good Name of Czechia in the World

Public diplomacy

Our public diplomacy events returned to in-person formats after two pandemic years when we did most of the work online. The MFA and embassies, together with Czech Centres and partners from the cultural, academic and science communities, organised a number of events presenting Czech music, visual arts and films, and implemented projects drawing attention to the priorities of Czech foreign policy and other current issues (sustainable development, science diplomacy, etc.).

At the beginning of 2022, the MFA launched a new official website www.czechia.eu. The website contains information about Czech culture, science, tourism, business and other fields, and it is designed primarily to help foreigners learn more about our country.

In early May, Minister Lipavský opened the “Ukraine Shall Live!” exhibition showing the tragedy of Russia's aggression through the eyes of Ukrainian photographers; on this occasion, the Minister again made clear his unequivocal support for Ukraine. On 21 May 2022, the MFA held an Open Doors Day, during which more than 2,500 visitors came to learn about the history of the Czernin Palace and the tragic life story of the Czechoslovak foreign minister Jan Masaryk.

Minister Lipavský welcomes visitors during the Open Doors Day at the Czernin Palace

Under the auspices of the MFA's public diplomacy, Prague hosted the 5th annual Business Leaders Forum dedicated to Czech business leaders and their environmental, social and risk management accountability.

The Sustainable Development Week took place in the second half of September. The MFA contributed by loaning an exhibition of photographs by David Těšínský intended to raise awareness of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals, and by co-funding a discussion afternoon on A Better Future for All.

Important science diplomacy events included the 3rd Czech-Israeli Forum on Innovations in May, promoting cooperation in the development and application of smart city technologies.

In the second half of the year, Czech public diplomacy focused on supporting the Presidency of the Council of the European Union. Our aim was to take part in building a strong and united position for the Union and to make it more visible worldwide. During the Czech Presidency, we organised more than 400 events abroad in close cooperation with our embassies, and we helped organise over 50 official events in Prague.

One of these events was a conference of experts on soft power and public diplomacy from the EU Member States who met in September to discuss the significance and impacts of disinformation, fake news, and conspiracy theories and culture, especially in the context of Russia's current aggression in Ukraine.

Czechia presided over the Council of the European Union in the second half of the year © Government of the Czech Republic

Our embassies organised some of the events on the Czech Presidency's calendar: exhibitions, sports and social events: for example, one of the events held to mark the passing of the Presidency baton to Czechia was a 10 kilometre run organised in Brussels to honour the memory of Emil Zátopek; a replica of Prague's John Lennon Wall – a Wall of Freedom and Energy – was installed in front of the Panthéon in Paris; and the Czech ambassador to Japan with his EU colleagues planted 27 sakura trees in the Japanese city of Yorii to show their support for Ukraine in the face of Russia's aggression.

For more information on the activities of the MFA Public Diplomacy Department, see Public Diplomacy Yearbook.

The lifting of pandemic restrictions enabled Czechs living abroad to revive their activities and strengthen their mutual ties as well as their ties with Czechia. A new feature that helped reactivate Czech communities was the use of online tools, by then adopted at schools and compatriot nine associations, e.g. in Czech language teaching, coordination among the associations, or debates on compatriot issues. A significant achievement was the completion of the research project looking for New Approaches to the Coordination of Diaspora Policy. The project mapped the needs of a modern compatriot community.

Compatriot affairs

Today, active Czech communities are formed mainly by younger people and families who leave Czechia to work abroad or for other private reasons. Their priority is to have access to Czech language tuition, and to enjoy a more effective and mutually enriching relationship with the institutions of their home country, especially as regards consular services and political participation.

Compatriot students at a summer course of Czech language received certificates from the Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs, Martin Smolek

The MFA, together with the Ministry of Education, Youth and Sports and the Czech National Agency for International Education and Research, facilitated Czech language tuition as much as possible. The long-standing programme of the MFA and the Ministry of Education to promote Czech cultural heritage abroad was implemented despite budget cuts. Approximately CZK 30.2 million was earmarked to support Czech associations around the world; CZK 3 million went to the Komenský School in Vienna, and CZK 2.8 million to the Czech community in Banat, Romania.

Compatriot policy was yet another area affected by the war in Ukraine. More than 1,200 Czech compatriots, mostly mothers and children, were evacuated from the country. The rules concerning the issuance of certificates of belonging to a Czech community abroad were amended to enable people from Czech communities in Ukraine, by way of an exception, to lodge their applications for the certificate in the territory of the Czech Republic.

The Interministerial Commission for Czechs Living Abroad dealt with a range of topics such as a new concept of compatriot policy, more opportunities for Czech language tuition abroad, introduction of remote voting, digitisation of consular services, better communication between government authorities in Czechia and Czechs living abroad, and more options for those who wish to acquire Czech nationality; it also responded ad hoc to other situations affecting Czech nationals abroad.

Prizes awarded by the MFA

Gratias Agit

The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Jan Lipavský, decided that the 2022 Gratias Agit Award for the promotion of the Czech Republic's good name abroad would go to seven individuals and one organisation. For further information on Gratias Agit Award recipients and their activities, see the Gratias Agit brochure on the MFA website.

The Medal for Merit in Diplomacy

The Covid-19 measures were still in place at the beginning of the year; however, in the 2022 tourist season, the number of Czechs holidaying abroad was far higher than in 2021. The most visited destinations were Croatia, Slovakia, Italy, Greece, Austria, Egypt, Türkiye, Spain, Bulgaria and Tunisia. A relatively new trend for Czechs is to spend most of the year in seaside resorts or even to settle there permanently. More Czech holidaymakers travelling by car meant more traffic accidents. Sadly, the number of Czech tourists who died abroad during the summer season was also significantly higher.

As every year, we had consular agencies in the busiest destinations. Following Russia's invasion of Ukraine in February 2022, Czechia set up temporary consular agencies in Košice and Przemyśl and kept them open until mid-April. Czechs are increasingly keen on foreign travel and so it is important to keep expanding our network of honorary consulates. By the end of the year, the Czech Republic had 224 honorary consulates, 17 of them opened in 2022.

The MFA Consular Operations and Information Centre was open throughout the year. Its helpline received more than 38,000 enquiries regarding foreign travel and answered over 90 per cent of them. The most frequent enquiries concerned Covid-19 travel restrictions, travel documents, rules concerning foreign travel of unaccompanied minors, visas, and current travel advice and recommendations. Immediately after Russia's invasion of Ukraine, the MFA Consular Operations and Information Centre set up a temporary hotline to receive requests for consular assistance from Czech nationals remaining in Ukraine, and to advise Ukrainian nationals staying in Czechia on issues relating to residence status.

In June, the MFA launched a Consular Hotline pilot project. The aim is to gradually merge all embassy hotlines into one centre in Prague (single telephone number, 24/7 service). At this stage, the pilot project involves Czech embassies in Warsaw, Madrid and Paris.

The MFA website provided information on requirements for entry into any country of the world. The DROZD application (optional registration for Czechs abroad) registered more than 64,000 travellers. Most of the text messages and emails sent through the application concerned emergency situations worldwide.

Throughout 2022, the MFA held regular meetings with travel agencies, the Interior Ministry and the Health Ministry to exchange information on activities and projects relevant to consular protection of Czech nationals abroad and the visa policy, and to search for ways to improve the cooperation.

During its Presidency of the Council of the European Union, Czechia contributed to significant progress in the area of consular protection for unrepresented EU citizens. It led a successful consular crisis exercise in Qatar, and identified the common aspects that may help the EU Member States align their travel advice and recommendations. In autumn, the Czech Presidency organised consular dialogues with the United States, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand.

In 2022, Czech embassies and consulates received nearly 155,000 visa applications, which is 44 percent less than in 2021. Russia's military aggression in Ukraine affected the visa process throughout most of the year: for security reasons, we suspended or temporarily limited the visa service at our embassy in Kiev and the consulate general in Lviv, we closed down our consulates general in Yekaterinburg and Saint Petersburg; the issuing of visas to Russian and Belarusian nationals was radically restricted. In addition to that, the Covid-19 measures in force in China did not enable ordinary Chinese nationals to leave the country. Considering that in previous years, our embassies and consulates in Ukraine, Russia and China received the main portion of our total visa application intake, the overall decline in 2022 was obviously due to the above factors. In contrast, in other countries our visa application intake kept rising steeply (by hundreds of percent in some locations) and returning to pre-Covid levels.

Of the 154,740 visa applications lodged in 2022, 117,750 were for short-stay Schengen visas, mostly for the purposes of tourism (56,271) and employment (29,296). In total, 100,513 short-stay Schengen visas were issued and 16,728 denied (14.2 per cent of all Schengen visa applications).

There were 36,990 applications for long-term visas or permanent resident permits (including employment cards). Most of them were applications for employment cards (14,916), followed by applications for the purpose of study, as a rule university study or language courses (11,149).

In terms of the numbers of applications processed, the embassies or consulates general in Lviv, Kiev, Riyadh, Astana, and Abu Dhabi had the heaviest load. Russia's war in Ukraine has thoroughly redrawn the map of busiest embassies and consulates. The Czech Government suspended the issuing visas to Russian and Belarusian nationals, with the exception of family members of Czech nationals/EU citizens and also people who demonstrably opposed the Russian regime. The rest of the very few exemptions concerned residence permits for the purpose of family reunification, and visas or residence permits for Belarusian students with scholarships from the Czech Government or international scholarships.

At the end of 2022, the Czech Republic maintained diplomatic relations with 197 countries around the world. Most of these relations had been established already with the former Czechoslovakia.

The interests of the Czech Republic abroad are promoted by diplomatic missions of the Czech Republic abroad – embassies (Annex 2), permanent missions and delegations (Annex 3), consulates general (Annex 4), consular posts (Annex 5), other missions (Annex 6).

These official representations of the Czech Republic are complemented by Czech Centres (Annex 8), the Integrated Foreign Network of the Ministry of Industry and Trade, the Czech Tourism Agency, as well as by honorary consulates and honorary consulates general. These have similar functions as career consulates; however, they are headed by honorary consular officers who do not have diplomatic status and are not employees of the Ministry of the Foreign Affairs (Annex 7).

The greatest challenge in MFA facility management was to cut down energy costs. An energy audit of all buildings managed by the MFA in Czechia helped identify the main problems and propose energy efficiency measures: modernize the lighting systems, replace electrical wiring and fixtures in the Czernin Palace, and improve heating efficiency.

The cost-cutting measures implemented in 2022 included complete renovation of two electric boilers (which saves the MFA 30 per cent of operating costs), more energy-efficient regulation of the centrally controlled heating system, and replacement of conventional light sources with LED lighting in all MFA buildings in Czechia.

Renovated MFA storage centre at Jiviny including state-of-the-art archival storage facility

The MFA completed the conversion of its storage centre at Jiviny into a modern storage facility, including state-of-the-art space for the MFA's archival holdings. The thoroughly refurbished building has energy-saving insulation and a new HVAC system.

The next project is to refurbish and enlarge the loft area in the Tuscany Palace and to reroof the palace. The procurement process was completed, contractor selected and contract signed in 2022. The works should commence in March 2023.

As regards MFA properties abroad, it is worth noting that Czechia regained the legal title to its diplomatic properties in Warsaw. The agreement that made this possible was the result of many years of negotiations.

The MFA continued with its construction projects. The project of highest importance was the renovation of the building of the Permanent Mission to the UN in New York. The works commenced in 2021 and they should be completed in 2024, including installation of interior furnishings. The refurbished building will revert to residential use and its capacity will be enlarged.

The construction of embassy building in Canberra got under way again after the Covid-19 shutdown ordered by the Government of Australia between June and November 2021. The construction work should be completed by the end of 2023, security systems and structured cabling installed in early 2024, and interior furnishings installed in the next stage.

Renovation of the embassy building in Belgrade, including installation of a façade lighting system, was completed in 2022

The renovation of the embassy building in Belgrade, including installation of a façade lighting system, was completed in 2022. The new façade lighting system will illuminate the street façade on special occasions.

Preparation for the refurbishment of the embassy building in Berlin entered into a new stage; a contract with ATELIER ALFA architects who are to prepare the project documents was signed after two years of negotiations. The building is to be completely refurbished and a new staff residential space created on the unused three upper floors.

Visits and Meetings

Neighbouring countries

During the first months of the year, members of the new Czech Government had introductory meetings with their foreign partners. Relations quickly gained momentum following Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

Contacts with the neighbouring countries were regular. Prime Minister Fiala visited Slovakia as early as in January and the new Slovak Foreign Minister Káčer came to Prague soon after his appointment, at the beginning of October.

Exchanges with Poland were equally intensive – already in February, the Prime Ministers finalised the settlement of the Turów lignite mine dispute. Prime Minister Fiala visited Poland in April, followed by Foreign Minister Lipavský in May. The June joint session of the two governments in Prague reaffirmed the excellent quality of mutual relations.

There were frequent bilateral discussions with Germany, including Prime Minister Fiala's visit to Berlin in May, and the reciprocal visit by Germany's Chancellor Scholz to Prague at the end of August. During her visit in late July, the German Foreign Minister Baerbock signed with Minister Lipavský a working programme for the Czech-German Strategic Dialogue. The two Foreign Ministers together commemorated the victims killed in the Lidice Massacre 80 years ago.

Foreign Ministers Jan Lipavský and Annalena Baerbock signed a programme of the Czech-German Strategic Dialogue for 2022-2024

An important moment in relations with Austria was the official visit by Chancellor Nehammer to Prague in May. A new regular feature was added to the Austerlitz Format – joint Foreign Ministers' visits to Ukraine and Moldova. Visegrad cooperation stagnated because of the positions of Hungary. As a result, the V4 summit with the United Kingdom was the Hungarian V4 Presidency's only event of this type. Slovakia organised meetings of V4 Presidents and Foreign Ministers in Bratislava, and a V4 Prime Ministers meeting in Košice.

The most intensive by far was the bilateral relationship with Ukraine, involving meetings in various formats and at many levels. The Prime Minister made two visits to Ukraine: in March with the Prime Ministers of Poland and Slovenia, and then in October when he headed a delegation of seven Czech ministers at inter-ministerial consultations. The Foreign Minister made two additional visits to Ukraine. Ukraine was also visited by deputy ministers and members of the Czech Parliament. Senate President Vystrčil visited Kyiv, Bucha, Borodianka, and Irpin together with Poland's Senate Marshal Grodzki, and made a speech at the Verkhovna Rada.

Ukraine

EU Foreign Ministers held an informal meeting (Gymnich) in Prague

The duties and responsibilities of the EU Presidency were the most significant feature on the working programmes of the MFA and Czechia's representatives in the second half of the year. There were four European Council meetings, four regular FAC meetings attended by EU Foreign Ministers, and one ministerial Council meeting on development cooperation. The MFA organised around fifty official meetings and many supporting events in Czechia. The most significant ones included the High-Level Dialogue on the Indo-Pacific in June, an informal meeting of political directors in July, an informal meeting of EU Foreign Ministers (Gymnich) and a Forum for Ukraine (within the Forum 2000 conference) in August, meetings of the special envoys for the Sahel and of the EU Green Diplomacy Network in November, and the Eastern Partnership Media Conference, the Global Forum on the Ethics of Artificial Intelligence, and an informal meeting of directors general for development in December. Czech embassies, permanent missions, and consulates general organised more than four hundred meetings and events abroad. The functions of the local EU Presidency were exercised by the Czech embassy in Tehran (throughout the Presidency term) and the Czech embassy in Doha (until the end of August). An event that fell, at least partly, within the scope of Czechia's EU Presidency was the October founding summit of the European Political Community, which brought to Prague the heads of state and government of the forty-four European countries that stood with Ukraine against Russia.

United Kingdom

Czechia deepened its relations with the United Kingdom as foreseen in the Czech Government's Policy Statement. An interministerial cooperation agreement was signed during the May visit of Foreign Secretary Truss. The cooperation was further developed at the November meeting of Ministers Lipavský and Foreign Secretary Cleverly in London. Liz Truss revisited Prague in October, this time as Prime Minister.

USA

After three Covid-19 years, the Czech-US Strategic Dialogue met face-to-face, with delegations led by the Czech Deputy Foreign Ministers and the US Assistant Secretary of State. Foreign Minister Lipavský and Secretary of State Blinken met in Washington a month later.

Other partners

The close relationship between Czechia and Israel was reaffirmed by President Herzog's visit to Prague. Other important exchanges with non-European partners included the visit by the Emir of Qatar and the visit by Foreign Minister Lipavský to Doha, as well as the first visit by Jordan's Foreign Minister to Prague in ten years. Important contacts with our African partners included meetings with the Foreign Ministers of Ghana and Rwanda in Prague, and the participation of the Ministers of Health of Egypt, Côte d'Ivoire, Kenya and Zambia in the Health Forum Czech Republic-Africa. Meetings with representatives of India, Australia, Korea, Mongolia, the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand, Vietnam and Singapore confirmed that the Indo-Pacific was one of the regions in the centre of our attention.

For the complete overview of visits and meetings in 2021, see Annex 1. The overview includes trips and visits of senior officials, ministers, deputy ministers and committees of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate of the Parliament of the Czech Republic.
